The Kelston is a large 3-seater sofa that combines modernity and comfort in its design aesthetic. The sofa is well proportioned with simple clean lines providing a contemporary look for your living space making it a perfect choice for modern homes. The minimal detailing creates a timeless piece of furniture for many years to come.

Designed by Matthew Hilton, one of the unique features of this sofa is the articulated mechanism of the back built in for clever functionality and individual comfort. The back can be adjusted to a variety of levels from a complete upright position all the way back down to a flat one. This feature offers not only a flexible seating option but an impressive manufacturing technique for all highly design led enthusiast's.

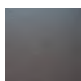

The legs tucked under the sofa complimented by an upholstered wooden frame makes the Kelston a very pleasing and tasteful interior selection with an Italian design flair. The wide depth of the arm rests contribute to the overall look of this sofa while increasing the comfort value.
