BODIL KJÆR

CARL HANSEN & SØN

DESCRIPTION

Made from solid teak, the Cubist-inspired chair, designed by Bodil Kjær, patinates beautifully over time and features a fine, linear appearance despite its sturdy construction. The chair was created in 1959 as part of a series of architecturally inspired indoor-outdoor furniture, the proportions of which were designed to relate to the surrounding environment.

DESIGNER

Bodil Kjær (born in 1932), as a furniture designer, views furniture construction from a purely technical perspective, interplayed with modern architecture and created for people. She always considers context and has collaborated with different professions in her desire to optimize physical settings.
