Celine Desk by Nazanin Kamali

The Celine desk has gently tapering conical legs which gives this piece a very dainty aesthetic. Combined with its small proportions and slim hidden drawer this desk is perfect for those tight on space.

According to Gear Patrol, “a man’s desk is his life. It might be the most intimate piece of furniture in the house [and] that’s why finding the right desk is so important. The Celine Desk is for a special breed. Look more closely at its form: a series of hard rectangles on top, with curved, slanting legs below. Designer Nazanin Kamali has crafted a paean to the mid-century modern aesthetic, a desk that would be as at home in a Frank Lloyd Wright house as in a modern condo. One thing’s for sure, though: sixty years from now, it’s bound to look just as good as it does now.”
