Choose what speaks to the senses first what feels natural to the hand what the eye lingers on and what is true to the body

A sofa is the centrepiece of a living room. In many ways, it is also the centrepiece of people's lives. Think of all the moments that take place on a sofa: conversations, time with family and friends, lazy Sunday afternoons, children growing up. A good sofa lasts, and becomes part of the stories and memories it helps to create.

Our sofas have a unique story to tell, and that story began in the forests of Bjärnum in southern Sweden. Furninova, still a family-owned company, has since grown into a global brand, built on a passion for sofas and a deep understanding of comfort, design, and craftsmanship.

Today, Furninova is an experienced supplier with an extensive collection and a level of flexibility few in the industry can compete with. With a wide choice of models, dimensions, comforts, upholstery, and details, each sofa can be shaped to feel more personal, more considered, and more at home. And while our story began over three decades ago, it is still being written. Every day, we continue to create new stories together with our resellers and partners, listening closely, finding inspiration, and shaping what comes next.

About us

Furninova is a family-owned furniture company founded in the early 1990s, with its roots in Sweden and a clear love for Scandinavian simplicity.

Craftsmanship

At Furninova, sustainability isn't something we add afterwards. It's part of the way we think, from the first sketch to the last stitch.

Sofas

Furniture shapes more than a space, it defines how a home feels, moves and lives. Every piece carries intention, giving character and identity to the place we call home.

Upholstery

No two homes are alike, and neither are the sofas made for them. Every piece can be shaped to feel more personal.

From living to dining, from sitting to resting, Furninova offers a complete collection of furniture designed to work together.

Furninova crafts furniture for the way we live, where comfort, style, and flexibility come together. From sofas that shape the living space to armchairs that offer a place to pause, from dining chairs that bring people together to beds that create a calm foundation for rest and recovery, each piece is crafted with care and intention.

Across every category, the same philosophy remains. Thoughtful proportions, considered comfort, and a wide range of choices allow each piece to adapt to different homes and individual needs.

Furninova is a family-owned furniture company founded in the early 1990s, with its roots in Sweden and a clear love for Scandinavian simplicity. As part of the Stommen Group, we build on a tradition where design is honest, functional, and made to last.

Comfort is our starting point

Comfort isn't a feature. It's the whole point. It's the soft pause at the end of the day, the seat everyone naturally chooses, the place where conversations linger a little longer. That's why we shape comfort and design side by side, creating furniture that feels right, supports everyday life, and earns its place, every time you come home and sit in your sofa. We design our furniture with the body in mind. A sofa should support the way you sit, lounge, lean, and live, while bringing a sense of ease to the space around it. Our aim is an affordable premium experience, and because no homes are the same, many of our models are developed with options in comfort and expression, so the right sofa can feel truly yours.

Craftsmanship you can trust

All of our products are crafted at our own factory, where the full production process takes place, from raw materials to the final finishing touches. Keeping the work close gives us consistency, quality control, and the freedom to do things properly, every time. It also supports responsible choices and a long lifespan, because the most sustainable sofa is often the one you love, keep, and live with for years. Every seam, every stitch, every layer is there for a reason. Skilled hands, proven methods, and careful material decisions come together to make furniture for real homes. You feel it in the details, in the way upholstery sits neatly, in how cushions hold their shape, and in a reassuring stability that stays with you over time.

Freedom to make it yours

A home is never one-size-fits-all, and neither is comfort. That's why flexibility has been part of Furninova from the beginning. We design for different rooms, different rhythms, and different ways of gathering and unwinding. Sofas sit at the heart of our collection, just as they often sit at the heart of many homes. From there, the range naturally expands into armchairs, dining chairs, bed frames, headboards, and carefully chosen accessories. Together, they help create an interior that feels connected, considered, and comfortable to live in.

And then there's the upholstery. Fabric and leather, texture and tone, the details you touch every day. Our purchasers and designers have spent years building a collection that works beautifully across our assortment, and we keep updating it to stay fresh, relevant, and lasting. With a wide range of fabrics and matched colours, it's easy to find the right look, whether you want something calm and natural or more expressive. Sustainability is part of that work too. Our goal is to keep improving the collection with more responsible alternatives, reducing environmental impact without compromising on quality or design.

A supplier with a personal approach

The Nordic region is our home market, and it still shapes how we work. Straightforward, dependable, and focused on long-term relationships. At the same time, Furninova is an international supplier with sales offices in several markets, bringing our comfort and craftsmanship to homes and retailers far beyond Scandinavia. Every year, a large number of customer-unique sofas and armchairs leave our factory, each one made for a home. That scale gives us experience and reliability, but we never want it to feel distant. We aim to stay close to our customers, and easy to work with. You'll meet us where the industry meets. At the major furniture fairs, we connect with new and established partners, exchange ideas, and shape what comes next. For the full Furninova experience, we invite you to visit us in Markaryd, at Stommen HQ, where you can not only explore the collection up close, but also meet the people behind the company. For us, these moments are about more than showing products. They are about building trust, listening carefully, offering support, and adding that little extra detail or solution that makes everyday life easier. Our goal is simple: best-in-class support and high delivery satisfaction, so retailers can feel confident and end consumers can feel taken care of, from first choice to final delivery.

A long-term partner

We don't see ourselves as a supplier. We see ourselves as a partner, and we treat partnerships the way we treat our furniture, with care, attention, and long-term thinking. Whether you're choosing a sofa for your home or representing Furninova as a retailer, you'll meet a team that is present, responsive, and engaged. We believe the best collaborations feel effortless with clear communication, steady follow-through, and shared pride in what reaches the customer in the end. What makes Furninova different is the combination of flexibility and control. With our own production, we're close to every step. This gives our partners something rare in the industry. The ability to offer variety without losing consistency. The confidence to promise quality and deliver it. For retailers, this means working with a brand that makes it easier to stand behind what you sell: dependable processes, quick answers, and products built on comfort, design, and craftsmanship, not short-term trends. For end consumers, it means peace of mind: the feeling that your sofa isn't just beautiful on day one, but made to stay that way. Above all, we take our commitments seriously. We keep things straightforward, we act with responsibility, and we do what we say we will do. That's how trust is built, and why so many of our relationships last for decades.

In 1991, Furninova was founded in Bjärnum,
Hässleholm Municipality, Skåne, Götaland,
Sweden, Scandinavia, Europe, the World.

Clean lines and calm colours. Scandinavian design is often described as a look, but at its best, it is also a way of thinking. A belief in making fewer, but better things. In choosing what lasts. In caring for the air we breathe and the water we all share. That is why craftsmanship and sustainability matters so much to us.

At Furninova, sustainability is not something added at the end. It is part of how we work, from the first sketch to the last stitch. It shapes the materials we choose, the way we produce, and the partnerships we build over time.

When a sofa is made to last, it does more than stay beautiful. It becomes part of everyday life, something to live with, rely on, and return to year after year. That longevity matters. It can mean fewer replacements, less resource use, and a lighter footprint over time. For us, that is where responsibility begins: in designing and making with care for the environment, for health and safety, and for the people behind every part of the process.

Care and transparency grow through long-term collaboration, shared standards, and a willingness to keep asking better questions. Customers today want to know more: how products are made, what materials are used, how people are treated, and what choices shape the final product. We welcome those questions. They help us improve, and they shape the way we develop our products and communicate what we do. The same care applies behind the scenes.

We believe in working closely with suppliers, building long-term relationships, and setting clear expectations from the start. Responsibility becomes stronger when it is shared, and progress becomes more meaningful when it is built together.

One of the most important choices we can make is also one of the simplest: to create only what is truly wanted. That is why much of our production is custom-made. Instead of making sofas to sit in storage, we make each piece for a specific home. This helps reduce overproduction and unnecessary waste, especially in a world where tastes and trends move quickly. But it also means something for the person choosing the sofa. What arrives has been made with intention, not simply with care, but for the life it is about to become part of.

The materials in a sofa shape more than its comfort or appearance. They shape how it feels, how it performs, and how it lasts over time. We believe good materials should feel right and be chosen with care. That means considering not only how they look and perform, but also where they come from and the standards behind them. Thoughtful choices at the beginning make a difference over time.

A sofa's environmental impact is shaped by more than what it is made from. It is also influenced by how it moves through the world, how it is packed, and how carefully each step is managed along the way. Some of the most important choices are not the most visible. They happen in logistics, in packaging, and in the small decisions made every day. This may not be the most dramatic part of the story, but it matters. Sustainability is often less about grand gestures than about steady progress, a little less waste here, a smarter choice there. Over time, those decisions add up, shaping a better way of working.

What feels most true to Furninova is that this work is approached with calm and consistency. Not as something to perform, but as a responsibility to carry forward. Not as perfection, but as ongoing work. Because this work is complex. Materials change. Standards evolve. The world does not stand still. What matters is the intention behind the work, and the willingness to keep improving, to move thoughtfully, to work honestly, and to choose progress that lasts.

The best sofas do more than fit a space. They belong to it. To the light in the room, to the rhythm of the day, to the way mornings begin and evenings unfold. They belong to the people who live there, and to the small habits that make a home feel personal. That is why making a sofa your own matters so much. Not as an extra feature, but as part of creating something that feels right from the start. At Furninova, that sense of belonging begins with flexibility. Some homes call for a large modular sofa, generous enough to gather around, stretch out on, and let the day move a little more slowly. Others ask for something smaller and more precise, whether for a compact living space or a quiet corner that still deserves comfort. Between those two interiors, there is room for many ways of living.

The details shape the feeling. Fabrics and leathers that change the mood of a room. Comforts that change the way a seat welcomes you. Legs, back cushions, and details that subtly shift the expression, from relaxed and soft to more defined and refined. Small decisions perhaps, but together they make a real difference.

To us, flexibility is not about endless variation. It is about the freedom to shape a sofa around real life. How you sit, how you gather, and how you want a room to feel. Because when a sofa is shaped with care, it becomes more than furniture. It becomes part of the atmosphere, the room's character, and part of everyday life.

PASSION FOR SOFAS

Indra

The identity of a Home

Furniture shapes more than just a space it defines the feel, movement and life of a house

Every piece carries intention giving character and identity to the place we call home.

Vesta

It has stood the test of time. With its balanced proportions, inviting depth, and understated elegance, Vesta blends seamlessly into any interior, from minimalist to cozy and curated. Its modular design allows you to create the perfect combination for your space, while a wide selection of fabrics, leathers, and comfort options ensures it feels just as personal. Chosen by more customers than any other, Vesta isn't just our most popular sofa — it's a part of who we are. With modular freedom, Vesta is a personalised centrepiece built for lasting comfort.

Vesta strikes a balance between structure and softness.

Vesta High, with its higher back frame, offers extra support for taller people.

Across all Vesta's variants, runs a shared thread. Generous comfort, balanced proportions, and a quiet confidence that never demands attention, yet never fades into the background. Each version speaks the same design language, but with its own tone, texture, and personality, allowing the sofa to adapt to different interiors.

Vesta — the original

This is where the story begins. The original Vesta defines the family with its clean lines, inviting depth, and timeless silhouette. It strikes a rare balance between structure and softness, refined enough for architectural interiors, yet warm enough for spaces filled with everyday life. No matter the configuration, Vesta maintains a sense of calm order — a sofa that anchors the room rather than dominates it. It's this versatility, paired with enduring comfort, that has made Vesta a long-standing favourite in homes across styles and generations.

Vesta LC — freedom in expression

Defined by its loose covers, it introduces a practical elegance that fits naturally into relaxed, lived-in homes. This variant celebrates change, allowing fabrics, colours, and textures to evolve over time. Whether refreshed to suit a new season or a new chapter of life, Vesta LC remains familiar yet flexible. It's a sofa that embraces everyday realities without compromising on design, offering comfort that feels personal, and effortlessly stylish.

Vesta Quilt — comfort with character

With Vesta Quilt, texture takes centre stage. The quilted surface adds depth and tactility, bringing a sense of craftsmanship and warmth to the design. It enhances the already inviting nature of Vesta, creating a softer, more enveloping expression that feels especially welcoming. While the quilting adds visual richness, the proportions remain true to the Vesta identity. Vesta Quilt is for interiors that value subtle detail and layered comfort, where design is felt as much as it is seen.

Vesta Round — a softer perspective

Vesta Round reinterprets the Vesta idea through curves and flowing forms. By replacing straight lines with gentle shapes, this variant introduces a more organic presence. Its rounded modules allow for expressive configurations, from embracing semicircles to more sculptural combinations. Despite its softer silhouette, Vesta Round retains the same reassuring comfort and modular logic that defines the family. It's still Vesta, but seen from a different perspective. Calm, confident, and quietly bold.

Vesta High - upright comfort

Vesta High is created for those who appreciate the familiar comfort of Vesta, but prefer a more upright seating experience. With a higher backrest, it offers enhanced support while preserving the calm proportions and balanced expression that define the sofa family. The higer back adds a sense of reassurance and presence, gently supporting the body without disrupting Vesta's relaxed elegance.

One family, many ways to feel at home

Together, the Vesta variants form a connected collection built on the same foundation of quality, comfort, and adaptability. Whether defined by clean lines, removable covers, tactile quilting, or sculptural curves, each version offers a distinct expression, while remaining unmistakably Vesta.

Vesta Quilt

Each version of the Vesta family speaks the same design language, but with its own tone, texture, and personality, allowing the sofa to adapt to different interiors. With Vesta Quilt, texture takes centre stage. The quilted surface adds depth and tactility, bringing a sense of craftsmanship and warmth to the design.

Catena is a sofa where every curve, cushion, and seam speaks of quiet luxury and intentional living.

Catena represents the essence of Furninova's modular thinking. A sofa family where form, comfort, and expression exist in quiet balance. Its silhouette is timeless yet distinctive, moving effortlessly between architectural precision and relaxed elegance. Catena Day introduces a softer, more classic expression, while Catena Dusk sharpens the form with a more defined, architectural presence. A range of comfort options allows the seating to be tuned to personal preference, from softer, more relaxed comfort to a more structured feel The character of Catena is further refined through its details. The choice of armrests, Seano, Ponte, or Catena, subtly shifts the expression, from understated to more pronounced. Optional wooden trays and cushions introduce function in a way that feels integrated rather than added, allowing everyday objects to become part of the composition.

Samba is more than a modular sofa. It’s a sculptural, customizable centerpiece that adapts to your space, your comfort, and your personal rhythm.

Built from a wide range of modules, including softly rounded elements, Samba makes it possible to create everything from classic layouts to more fluid, circular combinations. What unites all Samba versions is the level of personalisation. Samba can be customised with three different back cushions and five different styles of armrests to perfectly match your leisure style. Choose a slimmer armrest for a sleek, elegant look or a wider one for a more generous, lounge-like feel. And with options like special seams and an optional higher backrest, you can add that final touch to truly make it yours.

Samba with Day cushions.

Curved modules add softness to the design.

Big Band

A defining feature of Big Band is its high backrest, which gives the design both character and comfort. More than a visual statement, it creates support that is felt throughout the entire seating experience, inviting the body to settle in, lean back, and fully relax. With three different comfort options, the sofa can be tailored to individual preference, from a firmer, more supportive feel to a softer and more embracing comfort. Also available as ready-made combinations, these offer a composed starting point while still preserving the sense of freedom that defines the design.

Indra draws on a design language in which elegance feels effortless, and softness is beautifully composed.

There is something almost tailored in the balance between its clean silhouette and its generous, padded backframe, which gives the sofa its deeply inviting comfort and refined sense of ease. Plush cushions create a relaxed, welcoming feel, while the raised base and slender legs keep the overall expression light and graceful. Whether chosen with a metal frame leg for a more defined look, or wooden legs for added warmth, Indra brings together comfort, grace, and quiet sophistication. The subtle spacing between Indra's Dusk cushions gives the design a more refined sense of structure.

Sake

Sake is a sofa designed for real moments. The kind that unfold slowly and stay longer than planned. With its deep seat, oversized back cushions, and softly structured arms, Sake invites you to stretch out, sink in, and settle without hesitation.

The silhouette is clean and architectural, yet unmistakably warm, defined by plush proportions. Dress it in a fabric that adds depth and character or choose something calm and understated. However you style it, Sake finds its place with ease — equally at home in classic interiors as in contemporary spaces. Wide cushions create an effortless, relaxed expression. Perfect for slow mornings with a book, long conversations that linger into the evening, or the quiet luxury of an afternoon nap. Sake balances strong lines with soft comfort, and turns a living room into a place you truly live in.

Be warned, once you sit down you will never want to leave.

Moonlight is a sectional sofa that compromises on nothing, delivers big on comfort and comes packed with a generous character and an oversized frame.

Moonlight is a highly versatile design built around a few different modules, making it exceptionally adaptable. From classic, structured configurations to free-flowing, unique combinations, it allows you to shape a sofa that feels perfectly at home in its surroundings. Supportive yet undeniably cosy, Moonlight offers a level of comfort that feels almost heavenly to sit in. Its supple, feather-filled cushions rest on a softly supportive foam base, creating a refined double-layer comfort construction, a feature unique within Furninova's range. The result is a seating experience that feels both soft and secure. The generous seat depth encourages you to linger, to relax, converse, or simply be still. Moonlight understands that true comfort is not only about softness, but about balance between support and ease, structure and relaxation.

Upholstery is where design becomes personal. It’s the first thing you notice when you enter a room, and the first thing you reach for when you sit down. In Furninova’s fabric and leather collection, every colour and texture is chosen to live beautifully with our furniture.

A soft bouclé can make a space feel warm and inviting, while a linen-like fabric creates a lighter, casual look. Some fabrics feel neat and structured, while others feel softer and more relaxed, but each one gives the sofa its own expression.

Our colours are chosen for real homes and everyday living. Light neutrals reflect light and create an open, airy feeling. Sands, stone, and taupe bring calm and timelessness, while green, blue, clay, and terracotta add warmth and depth. Our goal is not to follow passing trends, but to provide colours you can enjoy and live with for many years.

Leather offers a different expression. At first, it feels cool to the touch, then warmer as it adapts to you. Over time, it develops a beautiful patina shaped by everyday life, and that is part of its appeal. Leather also gives the sofa a clear and confident look. Lighter tones feel fresh and modern, while darker tones feel richer and more grounded.

Because life happens, we believe upholstery should be both beautiful and practical. Whether your home is full of friends, children, pets, or all of these, there is a material in our collection to suit your way of living. Soft and cosy, durable and easy to care for, simple and refined. The choice is yours.

Whatever you choose, the result should feel personal. Every upholstery choice helps shape a sofa that feels at home with you. The best way to choose is to slow down. Feel the fabric, look at the colour in different light, and imagine it in your home. Because the right material is not only about how it looks, but also about how it feels.

Aria

Rather than relying on straight lines and predictable symmetry, Aria embraces fluidity. The curved silhouette shapes the room in a more natural way, softening architectural edges and guiding the eye through the space. It does not simply fill a corner, it redefines how the room flows and connects.

The continuous shape of the backrest forms a calm, unbroken line. The seating volume is generous yet controlled, offering depth and comfort without becoming visually heavy. The organic form encourages a relaxed way of gathering, making the sofa as social as it is sculptural. Slim, understated legs lift the sofa slightly from the floor, introducing a refined contrast between softness and precision.

What is true luxury? For some, luxury is something visible, wealth in the traditional sense. Rare objects, expensive materials, and labels that signal status before anything else. The kind of luxury that is collected, displayed, and recognised at a glance.

But perhaps true luxury is not always about what can be shown. Perhaps it is just as much about what can be felt. Closing the door behind you after a long day. Exhaling. Sinking into the sofa and letting the room hold you for a while. No noise, no performance, no need to be anywhere else. Just comfort, calm, and the quiet reassurance of being exactly where you want to be. There is a kind of richness in that. In having a home that gives something back. A place that restores rather than demands, and a sofa that lets the day soften the moment you sit down.

Because luxury is not always about having the finest things. Sometimes, it is about having the right ones, the ones that bring calm and a sense that everything you need is already there.

Bondi

Bondi brings all the comfort and character of a true Furninova sofa, in a shape that feels a little lighter and easier to place. With its smaller volume, it suits more compact homes beautifully, without ever losing the generous, welcoming feeling that defines great comfort. It offers the same softness and ease, simply in a more neatly scaled design. The design is calm but distinctive. Soft, rounded volumes are balanced by the angled armrest, which gives Bondi its own clear expression. It adds a subtle architectural line to the silhouette and creates a sofa that feels inviting and well considered from every angle.

With several freestanding elements, Bondi adapts easily to different spaces and ways of living. As homes and habits change, Bondi changes with them. The loose back cushions add to that sense of flexibility, allowing you to arrange the comfort just the way you like it. And with different comfort options to choose from, Bondi lets you find your own balance, from more supportive to deeply soft. The result is a sofa that feels easy to live with, easy to place, and easy to make your own.

Chess

Chess is a sofa that balances structure with softness in perfect measure. Its clean, geometric lines give it a composed and refined presence, while its welcoming seat depth invites you to relax. This design feels both calm and confident, impressing in contemporary interiors just as naturally as in more layered, personal spaces. The name Chess speaks to the clarity of the design. There is a sense of order in the way each line, angle, and proportion comes together, creating a sofa that feels precise without ever feeling strict. Its architectural silhouette gives the model a strong identity, while the comfort softens the expression and makes it easy to live with every day. With its modular nature, Chess brings flexibility to everyday living. Combinations can feel classic and symmetrical or more open and personal, depending on the space and the mood you want to create. Whatever the configuration, the design always feels balanced, giving you the freedom to shape the sofa around your home.

Its architectural silhouette creates a strong identity, while the comfort softens the feeling for everyday ease.

Eden

Eden is generosity shaped into form. Designed around a single, generous seat cushion, it creates a seamless surface of comfort that feels inviting, effortless, and made for the way we truly live, with space to settle in and stretch out. Its deep seat encourages you to sink in and stay a little longer This is a sofa that understands relaxation not as a luxury, but as something essential. Whether sitting upright or reclining into stillness, Eden adapts naturally to the body and the moment. High armrests and a supportive backrest frame the experience with quiet assurance, while feather-filled back cushions add a softness that feels both relaxed and refined. The lumbar cushions complete the comfort story, offering gentle lower-back support while enhancing the layered, welcoming expression of the sofa. It is this attention to detail that makes Eden feel not only generous, but exceptionally well considered.

Grande

Grande offers spacious, modular design with thick cushions for lasting comfort. Grande with Day cushions invites you to sink into deep, lounge-worthy seats while Grande with Double Day cushions provides a slightly more refined, upright feel. Available with fixed or loose cover for easy care taking. It's the perfect blend of Scandinavian elegance and statement-making comfort.

Removable and washable sofa covers bring together beauty and practicality. They let you keep your sofa feeling fresh and looking flawless, no matter what life throws at it. Be it playful children, pets, or the occasional spill. By simply removing and cleaning the covers, you extend the life of your sofa. And when the mood strikes for change, you can refresh your look with new covers instead of replacing the whole piece. It's a simple choice that saves resources, reduces waste, and turns sustainable living into a natural part of your everyday comfort.

Removable covers bring together beauty and practicality.

Petito

With its clean lines, generous seat, and soft bohemian character, Petito brings warmth and ease to a room without asking for too much space. It has a relaxed, welcoming expression, balanced by a refined Scandinavian simplicity that makes it feel natural in many kinds of homes, from city apartments to quieter, more intimate corners. One of Petito's defining features is its removable cover. It gives the sofa a casual, lived-in elegance while also adding practical value to everyday life. More than that, it offers a thoughtful way to live with your sofa for longer. By changing the cover, you can refresh the look with the seasons, respond to a new mood, or give the room a different atmosphere without replacing the sofa itself. It is a flexible, more conscious way of renewing your home: practical, lasting, and easy to live with.

And because the cover can be changed, Petito also invites a little more courage. A sofa does not always have to stay safely neutral. This is your chance to explore colour, texture, and personality in a way that still feels easy and adaptable. Perhaps a natural tone for a calm and timeless look, or something deeper, warmer, and more expressive to give the room a stronger identity. With Petito, colour becomes less of a risk and more of an opportunity. Petito can also be tailored in comfort. The single seat cushion completes the expression with a calm, generous look. Without divisions in the seat, the sofa feels seamless, relaxed, and welcoming — perfect for stretching out, gathering close, or simply enjoying the comfort of a sofa that feels as effortless as it looks.

Santo

Santo is a modular sofa system that combines comfort and character, designed to move, adapt, and grow with you. Each module is fully upholstered and available in both fabric and leather, giving every configuration a complete and intentional look from any angle. Along the sides, a delicate French seam outlines the silhouette, a subtle nod to European craftsmanship and Furninova's attention to the smallest details. With three leg options, Santo easily shifts expression, from grounded and casual to light and contemporary. Comfort is personal, and with four comfort levels to choose from, Santo lets you define your own blend of structure and softness.

PASSION FOR SOFAS

Mammuth

Aila

Aila is not just an armchair, it's an invitation to slow down. Its rounded, enveloping form brings a sense of laid-back charm to any space. Choose from our extensive range of upholstery options to make Aila uniquely yours, whether you prefer bold textures or subtle sophistication. The optional swivel base adds a playful twist, making it a perfect companion for both relaxing and entertaining.

Ava

The Ava armchair has a friendly shape that was inspired by the calming sensation one experiences from picking up a pebble at the beach. It features soft, rounded organic lines and a well-padded frame that provides a sense of comfort and relaxation. The armchair also has a swivelling base, making it versatile and suitable for various uses and functions. Even smaller spaces can accommodate this armchair comfortably.

Beetle

Beetle is an armchair where contemporary design meets everyday ease. Its softly rounded form contrasts beautifully with the piping that traces its contours, creating a chair that feels inviting. The result is a balanced expression, sculptural enough to stand out, yet calm enough to blend naturally into a variety of interiors. The seat and backrest are shaped to follow the body, creating a supportive and comfortable seating position that works equally well for conversation or quiet moments of relaxation. A practical swivel metal base adds flexibility to the design, allowing Beetle to adapt effortlessly within different furniture settings. This makes the chair particularly well suited to spaces where movement and interaction are part of everyday life, from living rooms and reading corners to open-plan interiors where seating needs to respond to the room around it.

Mammuth

The Mammuth armchair commands attention with its sculptural silhouette and bold presence. Rising gracefully on tubular supports that merge into the backrest, it balances striking design with welcoming comfort. Sink into its generous seat cushion and feel the craftsmanship in every detail. The Mammuth is more than a chair, it's a centrepiece that transforms your space into a sanctuary of style and relaxation.

Rondo

Rondo is a loveseat defined by balance. Generous in comfort, yet composed in expression. Its rounded silhouette gives it a distinct character, while the proportions remain calm and carefully considered, allowing it to sit naturally within the room without ever feeling overpowering. The curved backrest wraps gently around the seat, creating an embracing form that feels both supportive and inviting. Available in two sizes, Rondo adapts to different spaces and needs. The smaller version offers a refined and versatile presence, ideal for more compact interiors or as part of a larger seating arrangement. The larger size brings an even more relaxed experience, with extra room to settle in and unwind. Both share the same sculptural clarity and balanced silhouette that define the design.

The swivel function allows the seat to turn naturally within the space, enhancing flexibility and making the loveseat feel equally suited to social settings as to quieter, more private moments.

Layla

Layla is a dining chair that captures the essence of Scandinavian design. Clean lines, soft curves, and a natural sense of balance. The gently shaped back and armrest create a continuous, flowing line that supports the body in a natural way. Whether you choose the higher or lower arm version, the chair offers a comfortable seating position designed for long dinners and unhurried moments around the table. With a variety of leg options and a full selection of fabrics and leathers, the chair can shift in character, from light and minimal to more defined and expressive. This flexibility allows it to fit seamlessly into different interiors and personal styles.

Oscar

Its silhouette is slender and composed, defined by soft curves that give the chair a light character while keeping a confident presence around the table. The gently shaped seat and backrest create a natural sitting position, offering comfort that feels just right from the very first moment. Oscar's strength lies in its versatility. With a wide range of fabrics and leathers, along with the choice of wooden legs in multiple finishes or a more contemporary metal base, the chair can easily adapt to different interiors and dining environments. Compact in expression yet generous in comfort, Oscar fits effortlessly into both smaller spaces and larger dining settings. Its balanced proportions and refined details make it a natural companion to a wide variety of tables and styles.

Paloma

The Paloma dining chair translates the essence of the Paloma design into a lighter, more refined dining expression. Its defining feature is the elegant curve that seamlessly connects the armrest and backrest. The result is a chair that feels both contemporary and timeless. The soft, rounded form adds warmth to the dining space, while the clean outline keeps the expression composed and architectural. It's a balance that allows Paloma to sit naturally in a variety of interiors, from minimal and modern to more expressive settings. Its light visual presence makes it easy to place around the table, while the gently enclosing shape adds a sense of comfort that invites you to stay a little longer. Paloma is also highly adaptable. With a wide range of upholstery options and the choice between metal or wooden legs, the chair can shift in character, from sleek and contemporary to warmer and more tactile.

We don’t take chances. Everything we do is carefully and consistently considered from all perspectives.
What we do is far from mass production. It is craftsmanship.
That is why we offer a 10-year warranty on all frames and
